

NADD is proud to offer its August - December 2018 Webinar Series. From the convenience of your own office or conference room, you and your colleagues can participate in a great educational resource without having to make travel plans or leave your office.

How It Works Participants can listen to the presentation via a conference call portal and watch the PowerPoint presentation from a computer online. Participants have the opportunity to submit Q &A during the presentation. Each registrant, who is the key contact person, will receive an e-mail confirmation to access all of the registered session(s) and information to access the Webinar. This person's name will be given to the operator, and this person must be the one who calls in to participate on the Webinar. It is not necessary to download the handouts, as they are displayed on your computer screen as part of the webinar. Each session will last 60-minutes. The sessions feature individuals from a variety of areas in the field of mental health and intellectual disabilities. Note: Webinars are now open to all participants.
